

'Tis the Season

Below is a typical seasonal outline of the weather on Tybee Island. Once you have made a reservation, use this list to assist you in class selection and preparing a packing list for the students. Predicting the weather is nearly impossible, so be prepared for a chilly night, a rainy day, windy classes, etc. Classes are held irrespective of weather unless the situation is deemed hazardous by the Camp Manager and Program Coordinator. Children that are prepared have a better experience than those that are not. Prior to departure check the weather (www.weather.com) for reassurance.

Early Fall (September - October)

- Very warm
- Rain possible
- All classes offered

Late Fall (November - December)

- Mild to chilly temperatures in the morning
- Comfortable temperatures in the afternoon
- Possibly too chilly for Surf Sleuth

Early Spring (January-February)

- Weather variable (check www.weather.com)
- Typically the coldest months on Tybee
- Surf Sleuth not offered

Mid-Spring (March-early April)

- Chilly
- Possibly a windy beach experience
- Insects come out to play and eat
- Possibly too chilly for Surf Sleuth

Late Spring (late April-May)

- Hot
- Humid
- Bugs hiding in the shade
- All classes offered
